Christmas is coming...

Dear parent,

We are all very mindful that Christmas is almost here! The Christmas performances sound lovely as the children have practiced very hard this week. The school has become a Christmas wonderland almost over night and my thanks go to all staff who have worked diligently to ensure that it looks amazing.

Year 1 children visited the Planetarium this week. Despite the travel to Newcastle being extremely busy, the children and staff all enjoyed the Planetarium as they came to the end of their space topic.

Thank you to SOFIA parents who have given up very precious time this week to continue cataloguing our library books in preparation for children being able to borrow books. This is a very time consuming job and we really appreciate their dedication to the task.

Next week we welcome parents and families to each year groups Nativity performance. We must politely remind parents that the school hall can only accommodate 2 family members for each child, whether they come together or on separate performances. We know that each performance will provide a little Christmas magic and DVD's are available for parents to order.

Last Friday we reviewed the teaching of science. It was an exciting day with lots of scientific research and experiments happening. The photographs show some of them...

We will science year—the March will exciting the celebrate again in the new week of 20th offer many opportunities for children to take part in. Some classes will visit Fulwell Juniors and classes from the Juniors will come to our school.

Brendan Renwick will lead work on sound. If you are able to support science week in any way, please email school:

Year 1 visit the Planetarium

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons year 1 classes travelled on the metro to Newcastle to visit the Planetarium. They have really enjoyed learning about space and this week wrote the story 'Whatever Next'. Amazing writing children, we are very proud of you. This writing will soon be on display in the main entrance.

SOFIA news

Exciting news about the Christmas raffle - we have an amazing offer from Barclays to match every pound raised so that every ticket you buy is worth £2 to the school. We also have new prizes of cinema tickets, bowling tickets, and Jamie Oliver's Christmas cook book on top of existing fab prizes. Extra tickets are available from school office. If you aren't planning to buy any, can you return any books asap so we can sell them on? The draw is on 13 December.

Have you got hold of this years' must-have Christmas toy? If not, you will have a chance to win a purple hatchimal which we will raffle during the Christmas performances. There will also be hand-made Christmas decorations and stocking fillers for sale at that time.

Thank you for your support and best of luck in the raffle.
